Business Continuity Planning for Your Organization Presented At October Treasure Valley Consultants' Network Meeting

Boise, ID, September 25, 2007. Treasure Valley Consultants' Network proudly presents Business Continuity Planning for Your Organization, a presentation by Jo Ann Bujarski of The Business Process Dr. (<http://www.businessprocessdr.com>). The event will be held on Thursday, October 25th from 5:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m at Lotus Garden, 2120 E. Fairview Ave. in Meridian. Business-to-business consultants, business owners and managers are encouraged to attend this event. Members admitted free, non-members pay $5.00.

This presentation will discuss what companies must do in order to have a viable Business Continuity Plan in case they or a customer, supplier or vendor has a disaster that interrupts the usual flow of business. It is not just systems related. It covers all aspect of a business. Some of the topics covered during this presentation will include what makes up a Business Continuity Plan, why a business should create a plan, what to document in your plan and how to schedule updates and reviews for your plan.

This is an excellent presentation for any size organization; in fact it's something that people should look at for their personal lives as well. The size of your plan may differ based on the size of your organization, but everyone needs to have these questions answered. Creating a plan is much like creating a personal will. No one wants to think about it, but when something happens a Business Continuity Plan can give you peace of mind.
